

Dear family

I am Renalyn Pary-an, 27 years old.

I was born on September 17, 1979, at New Lucban, Baguio City, Philippines. At present I am employed as a caregiver here in Israel for six years. I am working with an old woman right now. She is an Iraqi citizen. She has four children all are married so we are only two in her house.

My parents are Mr. Renato Pary-an who is a miner and Mrs. Evelyn Pary-an (deceased). I have four siblings, three girls and one boy all are presently residing in the Philippines.

Our parents had taught us to manage the house, especially that we are all girls. We learned to cook basic menus, iron clothes, clean the house, and basic sewing. Since the salary of my father is not enough for our needs, I learned to work for my neighbors in baby sitting or to wash their clothes.

Having this experience, I was given an opportunity during my college years to work as a house-keeper for a businessman from Malaysia. I had worked for him for three years. I had also worked as a part time nanny in a doctor's house.

Working in Canada gives me more opportunities to learn more things like their culture and way of life. If given the opportunity, I expect that my future employers would accept me as a part of their family. That through them I could learn more things in life, that we could have a good relationship with each other.

Most of my friends describes me best as a hard-working person and kind. Most of my employers describes me also like that. I am a person also who loves to read during my free time. I love also to play outdoor games for fun or just to walk.

Even though my knowledge in cooking is limited. I love to cook and willing to learn. My present employer had teach me how to cook some of Iraqi's favorite menus. I can cook also some filipino dishes.

In my kind of work, anything can happen, so I took up a short course in Care for elders and basic CPR. In these course, we are taught to be alert at all times, must be sensitive to the situation of our employers and most importantly how to deal and understand them.

So I could established myself in Canada, I want to get my siblings in there to help them also, and to be with each other.

Looking forward to work w/ your family.

Sincerely yours

Ronaldyn pay-an
